Taking Flight. . .

"Please fasten your seatbelts and prepare for take-off." With the addition of the new wing, the terrain of Garrett County, the student involvement in school activities, and the constant striving by faculty and students to reach higher goals; NHS is taking flight!

"If you look out the windows to your right, you are able to see the new wing that has brought about many changes in the school environment." Pifalo Construction began construction on the six classrooms in the late summer of 1995. Officially, the classrooms opened for the start of the '96-'97 school year. This extension brought subject areas closer together and allowed students to reach new heights with the upgraded labs. Instruction in these rooms and the new distance learning lab helps better prepare students for life beyond secondary education.

All around us of course is the beautiful terrain of Garrett County, which allows for additional activities to occupy students' time."Viewing from all windows, it is impossible not to notice Garrett County's best kept secrets." Deep Creek Lake, the mystical creeks, the breathtaking mountains, and the cascading waterfalls all provide unique recreational opportunities such as skiing, kayaking, hiking, and various other adventure sports. While soaring to new altitudes in these activities, NHS students can also soar to new heights in school life.

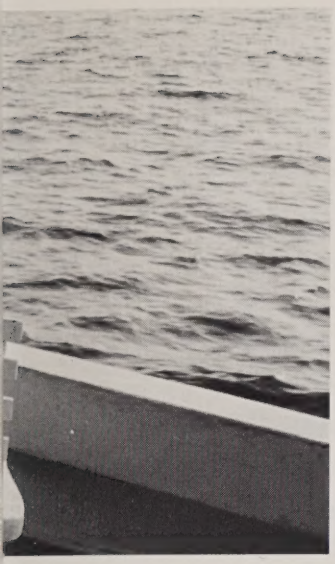
"Although from our position we are not able to see inside NHS, it has been quite evident that students have tried to realize their full potential by participating in various school activities. Extra-curricular activities, both athletic and academic, allowed students and teachers to set higher goals and reach higher levels. Students also tried to reach higher goals during the school day, such as scholarships, higher grades, and mastery learning.

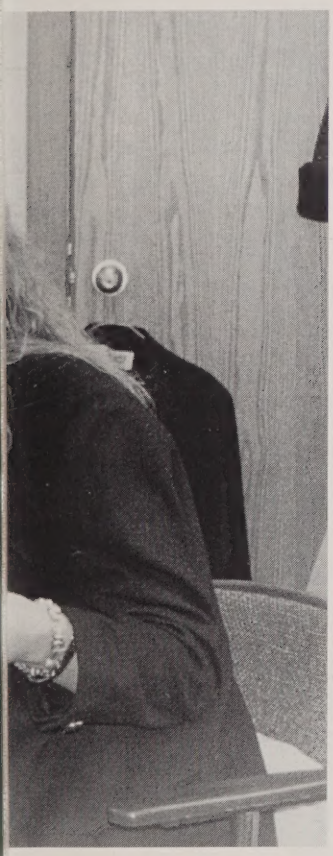
"Please put your seat into an upright position and once again fasten your seatbelts; we are coming in for a landing." The new wing, the terrain of Garrett County, and the involvement in school activities helped students and faculty at NHS take flight.

Off the coast of the Carolinas, Mrs. Martz ponders the plot of The Old Man and the Sea.

Completing the day's work, Mrs Martz collects Josh Neubert's as signment.

The Influence of Her Flight





Mrs. Martz concentrates on grading her students' analyses of The Great Gatsby.

While on a trip to Albuquerque, NM for a National Transportation Conference, Mrs. Martz and her best friend, Dorreen Beck, take time off to visit the Albuquerque Zoo.

Combining education and entertainment, Mrs. Martz creatively teaches grammar to her English II students. (far right)

"I hated English throughout high school until my senior year when I had one teacher who taught me to like the language." Even though Kelly Martz knew from the time she graduated from Frankfort High School that she wanted to teach the English language, little did she imagine the profound effect that it would have on her life. This inspiration led her to obtain an A.A. Degree in Business Administration from Potomac State, a B.A. Degree in Education, English and Language Arts from Shepherd, and a pending Masters Degree in Education Supervision Administration from Frostburg State University.

The past five years of her studies were coupled with teaching. Her first year was spent at Northern Middle School with level IV CPA students. Since then, she has been dedicating her time, knowledge, and expertise to Northern High School. Mrs. Martz has taught English I, II, III, and yearbook; however, her day does not end at 3:15. Being a cheerleading coach, senior class advisor, member of the Tech Prep Business Cluster, and Athletic Committee member keeps her occupied. Through all of this, she has made a lasting impression on many people, but she feels that her most impressive accomplishment in the school thus far has been the level in which the students that she guided for two consecutive years can write and communicate. This is just a small portion of her contribution to the senior class. Kelly Martz has been an advocate for the class of '97 by helping them deal with the educational system and prepare for life after high school. Through these events she has experienced frustration when students do not respond to her devotion and knowledge; however, the majority of the time she feels rewarded when watching her students grow as she shares her wisdom.

" I hated English throughout high school until I had one teacher who taught me to like the language."

Through her experiences at Northern High, Mrs. Martz can attest to the fact that Northern has high academic standards and participation; however, she feels that in order to keep these standards high, Northern should offer more electives to students.

She has also been involved in many school improvements at Northern. These improvements include the redesigning and implementation of a new fire drill system because of the new wing. She was also involved in obtaining a grant to receive money to create a countywide curriculum and testing system. Northern wants to let everyone know that her efforts would like not only to be recognized, but much appreciated. We also wish her the best with her future plans to become a Supervisor of Transportation and work towards a Doctorate in Education Administration.

Flying Into Fun

The final bell of the day sounded, and students flocked into the halls, ready to soar into new experiences of fun. Although at times it seemed scarce, there was spare time outside of school. Students had varied and diverse ways of spending that time. Some used it enjoying the natural imentities offered in Garrett County, while others travelled the world on the information super highway. However the time was used, it was always nice to escape for a little while from the rigors of education and take flight into new experiences.

Garrett County offered a vast array of opportunities to mingle with nature. Every season provided new prospects for a great time. Some of the favorite winter pastimes of NHS's youth were skiing and snowboarding. Year after year, students flocked to the slopes to show off their expert skills or at least tried to look good in their latest ski duds. Winter also provided frozen ponds for ice skating and covered trails for snowmobiling and sledriding. Spring came, and students got the "fever" to have fun in the sun. They satisfied their urge by biking, fishing, or playing baseball with a group of friends at the park. Then came summer, and the swimming holes were warm enough to hop in for a quick swim. Some students liked to spend their summer afternoons in the hills (found just about anywhere) and mountains. Many summer nights were passed camping with friends. When fall rolled around again with the beginning of a new school year, students still found the time for a game of frisbee or golf.

No matter what the season, students could always be found investing their time at their computers, sending e-mail, or sitting in chat rooms. For those less technically advancd, reading was still a popular pastime. Weekend nights flew by while students cruised the mall with friends, caught a quick flick with a sweetheart, or grooved at a dance club with strangers.

Some students perferred to participate in more unusual endeavors . "In my spare time I liked to record original hip-hop compositions on lo-fi equipment. These songs have been greatly inspired by: 'The Dukes of Hazzard', Snoop Doggy Dogg, and assorted knock-knock jokes," admitted Matt Thomas. Eric Neubert soared to new heights when he atttained his pilot's license.

However students choose to spend their time, the diverse activities they participated in outside of the classroom helped to bring interesting insight into the classroom. Students took flight into new activities and experiences along with their school work in order to establish a well-rounded life.

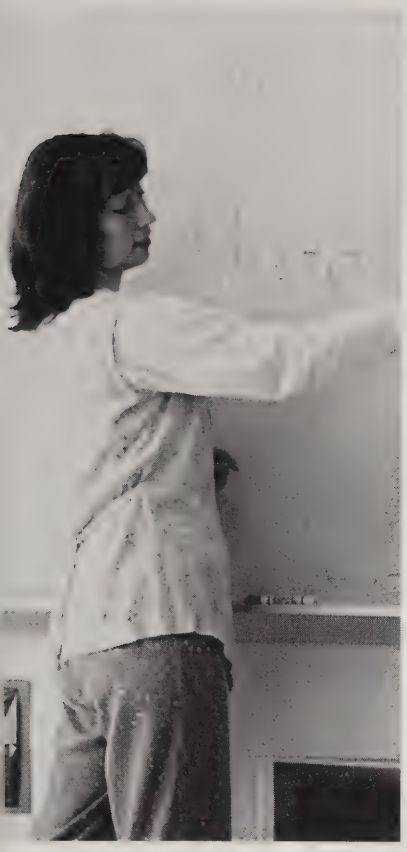
Mr. Brobst enjoys a more relaxed approach while discussing mathematics.

Mr. Price collects his thoughts before beginning a lecture on STP.



Mrs. Grimm explains the Pythagorean Theorem to her class.

Mrs. Derlan begins her class in an refreshing way by reading aloud to her students.

Mrs. Beachy reaches high to dot her "i", while listing new vocabulary on the board.

Mrs. Younker reaches low to make an "o" in her lesson plans.

Candy Opel spends some quality time with her "furry friends."

Candy, delighted with her summer dress, makes the flowers smell sweeter.

Candy and her mother, Dottie, share a closeness like no other.

Fifth grade adds to the contentment of Candy's life.

Catching some rays on a hot summer day, Candy keeps her cat Patches out of trouble.

In Memory Of Candy Sue Opel

Born: August 16, 1979
Died: October 28, 1990

To Candy

You were our friend, our confidant,
The one who made us smile and laugh
Even when we didn't really feel like it.

You were our helper, our inspiration,
The one who did what she believed was right
No matter what others thought.

You cared so much, even about a little puppy
With a white heart on its head.
You shared with us the strength you gained
From the solid rock you stood upon.

Your personality was as fluorescent
As the colors you wore
Your zest for life and your perseverance
Provided examples for us all to follow.

Candy Apple and Tootsie Roll were fitting nicknames
For someone as sweet as you.
You had in your heart so much joy
That you could even laugh at our silliest jokes.

You were our conscience once, just for pretend,
But now you're like Jiminy Cricket for some of us
Because we know you're watching,
Looking over our shoulders,
Remembering as we remember,
Turning back time's pages
And taking a glimpse at what used to be.

When you left us,
Riding the white horse you always dreamed of,
Real angel dust dancing in your hair,
You did not take our memories.

We miss you, dear friend.

Student Life

The Dream of...

We dreamed, we dreamed
of all these things,
of students, faculty, administrations,
athletics, coaches, and fans of studying, relaxing, loving.

We dreamed we could be innocent children again and make castles out of mud
the mad, murky, mucky mud
the boobing, blurbing, bumbling mud that all the world is made of yes, we dreamed that we were all little gods students, faculty, administration that could take this bleeding mud watch it squirm and wiggle between our fingers not the kind of crud man is now made of.

We dreamed of a land where peace was like a passion and war was unheard of a land where love reigned all where people were trusted because they were human and no one was left to live alone no one, no one, no one at all.

We dreamed we each stepped inside a bubble
a clear, blue, crystal bubble high and flying over the earth spreading beauty everywhere we dreamed our lives could be a bubble free and floating students, teachers, wisemen all in our bubbles free

We dreamed... We dreamed... We dreamed...

A few senior class guys chat about the graduation ceremony and their plans for a bright future.

Sports

Soaring Like "Birdies", Husky Athletics Take off

Success was the goal and reality for all Northern athletes as they took off in pursuit of victorious seasons. The football team defeated Bishop Walsh for the first time in history, in an overtime tiebreaker. The volleyball team put together a dynamic season and a berth in the regional semifinal. Soccer won not just one game, but four, for the first victories since its revival in the 1993-1994 season. Cross Country continued to stride to victories with the boys' team qualifying for the State Tournament. The cheerleaders jumped to new heights as Larah Friend performed in the Pro Bowl in Hawaii. The girls' and boys' basketball teams used hustle and teamwork to power them to stellar seasons and playoff performances. The wrestling team dominated the area's mats with several members qualifying for States. The baseball and softball players ruled the mounds and proved to be kings and queens of the diamond in their playoff runs. The track team ran away from the competition with several members taking part in Regionals and States. The tennis team vollied its way past adversaries for another smashing season.

While all the other sports were soaring, golf balls were taking flight in the Norhern end of Garrett County too, as golf debuted as a varsity sport at Northern. The first ever Husky golf team consisted of ten members and was coached by Harv Speicher. The team, of mostly underclassmen, practiced on the golf links at the Wisp Resort in McHenry and played its matches at courses throughout the area. Although it was its fledgling season, the team won several tournaments and placed eighth in the region. Two golfers, Matt Settle and Justin Heslop, missed qualifying for the State Championships by two strokes.

With the addition of golf to our sports program, Northern Husky athletics will continue to soar to new heights.

FOOTBALL

After a hard fought battle in the snow, the Husky football team thanks the fans for their loyal support.

Taking a snap from the center, Scott Sisler readies himself for combat.

FAREWELL

After high-flying seasons, the football, volleyball, cross country, track, and cheerleading teams were brought back to earth by the announcements of the resignations of coaches Tom Vent, Vonda Yunker, Bob Yunker, Charles Himmler, and Kelly Martz.

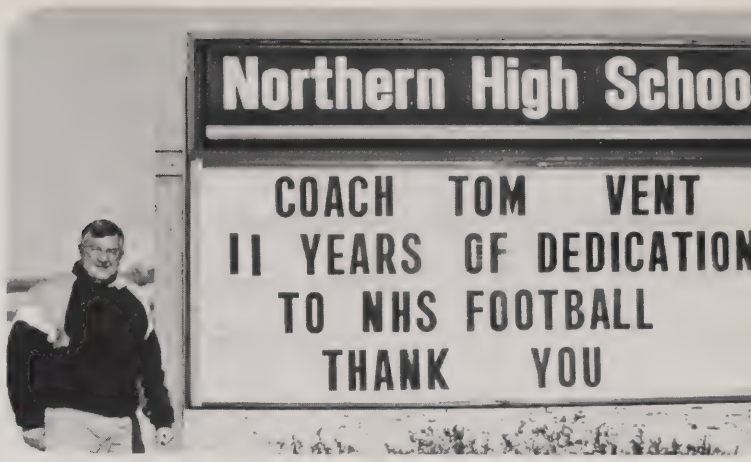
Coach Vent stepped down after eleven seasons as football's head coach. In 1986, he inherited a program that was in a downward cycle and experiencing difficulties. In just a few short years, Coach Vent was able to lead his players to winning records, the West Region Championship in 1992, and the state playoffs. His teams have recorded forty-six wins and sixty-five losses; however, these statistics do not illustrate the amount of time, effort, and improvement he made to our football program. The motto for this year's team was "Pride and Poise." Coach Tom Vent will always be remembered for the pride and poise he instilled in his players and in Northern High School.

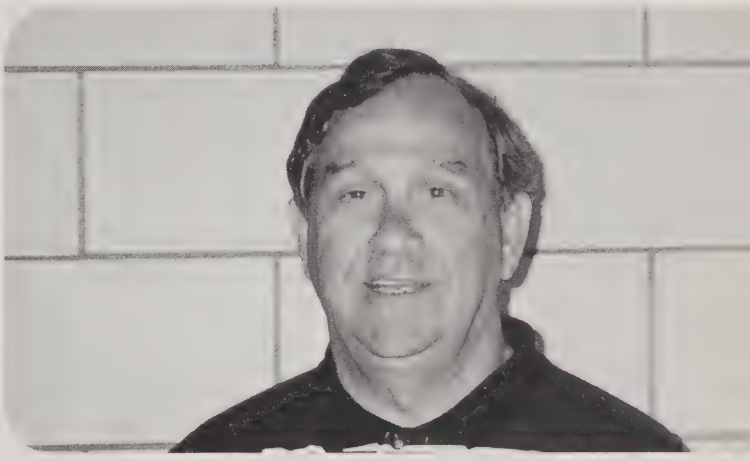
Coaches Vonda and Bob Yunker bid farewell to Northern athletes after a combined sixty seasons of coaching. Over their many dedicated years, the Yunkers have coached volleyball and founded and coached the softball program. They will always be remembered through the triumphs of their teams. The Yunkers guided Northern athletes to victory in softball for twelve years, and the 1983 team won a regional championship. Northern's volleyball team has amassed a reputation for being among the area's best; moreover, the team's regional championship in 1985, state championship in 1985, three undefeated teams, and numerous playoff appearances are a direct correlation to the high level of coaching the Yunkers have provided Northern. After giving up control of the volleyball program, a command they held for eighteen years, Vonda and Bob Yunker's court presence will be missed, but their legacy lives on.

Following many seasons of service, Coach Charles Himmler ends his coaching tenure. Coach Himmler began his ten year coaching career at Northern by starting the cross country and girls' track programs. His teams have run away from the competition. The 1990 and 1991 boys' cross country teams won regional titles, had numerous cross country All-State finishers, and several track regional and state placers. Also, the boys' cross country team qualified for state competition nine times. Coach Himmler has been a great asset to Northern. His coaching ability and commitment to running will always be appreciated.

After providing Husky athletics with spirited and team-oriented cheerleaders, Coach Kelly Martz announced she was resigning after five years. Even though her career has not been as lengthy, it has been drastic, as the cheerleaders took fourth place in the state in 1994, received numerous spirit and sportsmanship awards, and cheerleader Larah Friend, was named an All American Cheerleader three years in a row and received an invitation to perform in the NFL Pro Bowl. Coach Martz was also named "Coach of the Year" by the Collegiate Cheerleading Company in 1994. Her dedication to cheerleading, athletes, and all Northern students through Homecoming will be sadly missed.

Even though these much admired coaches are departing, the future looks bright. New coaching careers will be taking flight, replacing the departing ones, and Northern athletics will again soar. Best wishes and a heartfelt "thank you" to Coaches Tom Vent, Vonda Yunker, Bob Yunker, Charles Himmler, and Kelly Martz.





Academics

Learning from a Distance

This year Northern High School has soared to new heights with the addition of the Distance Learning Lab. This is a program offered to seniors interested in accredited college courses at reduced costs through Garrett Community College. Students are connected with the college's English and math classes. During the first semester, English 101 and math 105 were available to college-bound seniors propelling themselves towards a successful post-secondary career. The second semester offerings were English 102 and pre-calculus.

The Distance Learning Lab represents the highest point in today's technology. Visual and audial communication were made possible by fiber optic systems. This advanced technique is composed of interactive television, VCR, sound system, computer system, electronic chalkboard, fax machine, and the ability to be connected with other high schools, businesses, and colleges throughout the area. There was a facilitator in the room at all times, and the professors came to teach at NHS as well.

Outside of school use, the Distance Learning Lab has many other purposes. Students from the National Honor Society and Student Council participated in a live forum concerning Maryland legislation with Govenor Paris Glendening. The Pediatric Nurses Society also met in the lab for update conferences. For future use, the Distance Learning Lab has the potential to launch NHS into the twenty-first century.

Ads

Adding to the Brood

Year after year local businesses provide financial support for our yearly publication. Although many local organizations seek funding, our advertisers are dependable and generous year after year, thus permitting us to "take flight."

Even though we rely on established businesses, we often pursue fledgling companies. We ask that you patronize our advertisers — both old and new.

The McHenry area grew with the opening of two new fast food restaurants, a convenience store, a new gas station, and a new shopping center. Also, the addition of a new movie theatre provided additional entertainment for local residents and tourists.

The town of Accident added a bakery to its Main Street which was originally a flower shop. Also, a deli and a pizza shop has been added.

Other changes in Northern Garrett County included the town of Grantsville. A new fast food restaurant, a rebuilt funeral home and a new housing development expanded its dimensions.

Checks and balances occured in another town. Although the medical clinic in Friendsville closed, the artistic community continued to thrive. In addition, outdoor recreation grows yearly.

The continued support of local merchants makes publishing the North Star Yearbook possible. This allows Northern students to record their flights in history. Our sincere gratitude goes out to all the businesses that support us.

Dear Cindy and Matthew Thomas,

As you continue your academic education, please also remember to practice and expand your knowledge of the three "R's" we have tried to impart. Respect not just the right of others, but also maintain your self-respect. Responsibility is doing the right thing, even if no one else is watching. Religion is the ongoing sharing of a relationship with God, which will get you through even the toughest times.

We Love You,
Dad and Mom

"The Sky is the Limit"

Almost everyone is familiar with the cliche, "The sky is the limit." For the majority of the goings-on at Northern, it is evident that this is true. Yet, it is also true that upon reaching the sky, many different courses of flight are possible, each with its own unique positive characteristics.

One way of exploring those posibilities is through clubs. Every other week at Northern, students take a break from the daily academic grind to persue something that interests them. Clubs give students a chance to develop interests outside of normal school-related material, while they provided the opportunity to do so in the positive, structured environment that school provides. They also get to socialize with their friends, or make new ones, that they do not normally see in class.

Just as there are many directions in which one can fly, there are many choices when deciding upon what club to join, over thirty actually. Clubs run the gamet from scholarly to athletic, down-to-earth spiritual to out-of-this world. They can be related to other organizations or exist simply "for the fun of it". Mr. Kolbe, advisor of the Shakespeare Club, shows club members movies based upon Shakespeare's plays, among other things. He feels that doing so "removes some of the intimidation factor from reading Shakespeare."

A lot of sports teams use club period to enhance their skills. Girls' basketball and softball, and wrestling meet during club period. Other sports-related clubs are Girls' Varsity and Lettermen. Both of these clubs participate in service activities.

Clubs related to classes in school give students a chance to receive more individualized attention and catch up on work or continue ongoing projects. These clubs include: Calculus, Electronics, Math Assistance, Theatre, Yearbook, Art, and Student Council. Mrs. Derlan, Theatre club advisor, notes that clubs have given Northern's resident thespians the opportunities to rehearse three short plays.

Other clubs allow students to participate in existing hobbies, or to learn about now ones. One such club is Ms. Weidner's Science Fiction club, a place for those who consider themselves Trekkies, or who watch the X-Files every so often and wonder if the truth really is out there. Ms. Weidner states that the main objective of the club is to discuss "the question most people have regarding science-fiction works, 'could this really happen?"

One can see that the sky is truly the limit when considering the options for joining a club at Northern High School. It is almost impossible to make a bad choice. Within years, a student may even choose the right one.

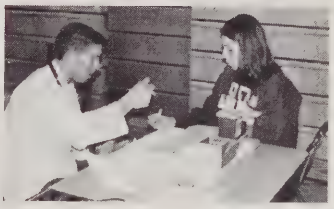
The Spirit of Flight

The year has been completed and slated into the history books as another year when the seniors have said good bye...

our parents have supported us...

culture was instilled...

NHS had everlasting spirit...



we had to overcome fear to help others...

great effort was rewarded...

All of this, plus the little details that may be overlooked in years to come, was part of a phase in our lives that somehow encouraged us to take flight. Each and everyone involved in the Northern High School environment had to look deep within to see the encouragement. Some are still opening up that space inside, but no matter how long it takes for them to spread their wings and fly, this time in the past was a valuable time, and if students are having trouble seeing this, just look at the pictures. They show more than words could ever say. They show the spirit of flight that has been lifted forth from the students, staff, and NHS itself.

New Horizons

What is your biggest college anxiety?

"Running out of money"
— Jenny Vitez

"Spraining my ankle in basketball"
— Lea Stanton

"Anatomy and physiology"
— Amanda House

"Missing my dog"
— Mindy McCarty

"Flunking out"
— Matt Thomas

"My roommate"
— Megan Sines and Michelle Geis

"Hard work"
—Emily Carey

"Going away and not knowing anyone"
—Janel Hordubay

Erin Resh and Mrs. Wilt are both rewarded for their excellent team work in education. This award will help Erin while she attends Frostburg State University.

In preparation of her future, Kim Bittinger is being interviewed by the Graphic Design department head at O'More School of Design as she searches for the right college

After entering into the "real world", Lea Stanton waits on customers at her summer job at a local BP gas station.

Senior band members stand proud with the awards they have earned from being all that they could be in band during their high school career.

Emily Carey and Melissa Bowser explore new desktop publishing software and design careers on a Frostburg State University field trip.
